

Sam Donnelly

Completed a PhD in Cellular/Biomedical Engineering at the University of Glasgow working on building an in vitro model of the bone marrow niche using hydrogels and polymer coated surfaces. She has been with JLand Biotech since August 2021 as a Technical Sales Manager in the European team. Working with Jland she supports customers technical needs as well as reviewing documentation and studies carried out on the various products offered.